Definitions:

- Validated: means the materiel manager has determined that the combat loss or non combat loss is valid.
- Attrition: means the validated combat loss or non combat loss equipment has been removed from the Army inventory.
- Standard: The Army target is for the attrition date to be within 60 days of the validation date.
- Derivation: The average attrition time after validation metric is derived using a daily 12-month rolling average of records that were attrited by a materiel manager using the AEL Tracker (no records that were automatically attrited are included). The metric calculates the average attrition time for each AEL record that was attrited during the 12 month date range and then determines the percentage of those records that were attrited within the 60 day standard.

Please make a selection from the above drop down lists. Use only uppercase text to enter a value for the text boxes. Click the "Go" button to apply the selected filters.
Click on the gauge to see a separate gauge for each Source of Supply (SOS) that exists in the AEL table.

Average Attrition Time After Validation - 60 Day Standard

This overall MyEQUIPMENTLOSS metric answers the question, "What percentage of combat and non combat losses were attrited within 60 days of the date they were validated?"
 Time run: 2/10/2009 8:47:35 PM
 Data is current as of: 2/4/2009 8:46:58 AM

MyEquipmentLoss Selection Directions

The initial screen reflects all data in the Army Equipment Loss (AEL) table, including: Potential AEL, Validated AEL, Attrited AEL, and even Repaired/Recovered AEL.
* To select on MACOM or Status Description, click the "ellipse" symbol - the 3 dots (. . .) to the right of the selection box.
* Click on each of the Choices you need and then click "OK".

Consider The Following Combinations and Select Statuses for Each Potential or Attrited AEL:

Potential AELs needing input by the Materiel Manager

Attrited AELs

* Attrited Aircraft - Needs Review * Review in Process (Pending Decision) * Attrited Aircraft - Needs Review * Attrited by Materiel Manager
* Review Not Started (Current) * Waiting - Evaluation or Legal * Automatically Attrited - No Action Required

Please make selection(s) from the drop down list below. Wait for each selection to fully load (hour-glass disappears) before making another prompt selection. Click the "Go" button to apply the selected filters.
* Date Format - "mm/dd/yyyy"
* Please make sure UIC's, LIN's, NIN's, NOMEN, Model, Serial Numbers, and Registration Numbers are all in uppercase.
* Use the % symbol for wild card searches, which is available on these selection fields: UIC, NOMEN, LIN, NIN, Serial Number, Reg Number, and Model.
