A staff sergeant suffered a severe finger injury installing tracks on a Bradley Fighting Vehicle.

As he was reassembling the track and ensuring all track pins were in place, he signaled the driver to move forward so the track would roll over the sprocket for final assembly.

As the vehicle moved, his glove was caught between track sections pulling his finger in. Fortunately, all he received was a severe cut.

Always keep your hands clear of moving parts and don't forget to check how close you are to losing a few digits.

AR 700-82 Update

AR 700-82, Joint Regulation Governing the Use and Application of Uniform Source Maintenance and Recoverability Codes (Oct 07), became effective 10 Nov 07. The rapid action revision changes the meanings of codes. You can view and download a copy from the DCS G-4 publications list on the APD website:
