

Why Didn't You Report It?

What's that strange noise, you wonder? 'I've never heard a generator make that sound before,' you think. But, it seems to be running fine, you decide, as you walk away.

What's that strange smell, you wonder? 'I've never smelled that smell from an engine before,' you think. Still, it seems to be running fine, you decide, as you walk away.

What's that stuff on the ground under that ECU, you ask? 'I've never seen stuff like that under an air conditioner before,' you think. However, it seems to be running fine, you decide, as you walk away.

You were created with ears to hear, a nose to smell, and eyes to see. All three of these senses are vitally important for good PM. However, they're useless if you don't follow up by reporting what you have heard, smelled and seen.

YOUR PM MISSION IS A 24/7 EFFORT!

WHEN YOU DON'T HAVE A TOOL IN YOUR HAND OR A SPECIFIC PMCS JOB TO DO...

...YOU'RE STILL ON THE LISTENING, SNIFFING AND SPOTTING PATROL.

AND THE PATROL IS NOT DONE UNTIL YOU REPORT BACK!
